Thanks, Glenn. Will you also be collecting and tracking changes to the appendices?

Sheila, Kate S will be sending out a request for potential changes in the document, which are to be sent to me.

That would be technical comments received, plus our own ideas about what needs to be added or upgraded.

I will be glad to keep track of all those and to distinguish comments from our own ideas.

I would not submit this list to the docket. It is internal deliberative.

Judy is working on transcribing all the recordings of the meetings (thank you , Judy). She will then distribute and we can check our notes against her transcription and fill in any blanks or make corrections. So...hold on to the notes. The final transcription, along with any documents or comments we were given for the record at the meetings, will be sent to the docket.

If you have anything that you were given for the record (i.e. comments, photos, documents, etc), please forward them in hard copy form to the docket. If you were given something that you are not sure was intended for the docket, I would err on the side of submitting it. Please mark it with who it was from, the date, and the location of the meeting.

Any summaries we do for our own use, such as the one Glenn prepared, will not go to the docket. Only comments from the public will go to the docket. It might be good to use that as a base and have others add what they heard about the draft assessment itself, then distribute that to the team. Glenn - would you be willing to collect additional info from others and finalize?

I am putting together a "what we heard" summary draft and I'll send around the draft for review - it will be very high level.

Thanks.

On the call yesterday Judy said that she was transcribing the recordings. She will distribute the transcription for review. We can add to that from our notes.

I imagine that the summary of technical issues raised, such as Glen prepared, will be helpful for our consideration as we revise the assessment. Do we need to submit that to the docket?

Not sure what to do with the pictures.

Thanks, Glen. I'm so sorry to hear you also caught a nasty bug. I also had fever for 5-6 days and terrible lethargy, headache, etc. Hope you're all better.

I did find the missing chip, after giving up hope. It was buried in the bottom of my big bag, which I didn't unpack until the fever subsided. What a nice surprise!

We should start with a high-level summary. We do need at least approximate numbers for that, using the sign in sheets and speakers cards. Are they being processed? I could work on a general description of what was said based on your and my notes, and then we could augment it with specifics from the cards and sheets. I just wanted to be sure that somebody hadn't already started or done this before I spent time on it.

In terms of a more detailed record that we can put into the docket, I think we need the names/info from the speaker's cards added to my rough text file, at a minimum, to be able to document the comments. Editing that file based on the recordings would be even better. I don't think a summary would be consistent with what we told them - that their comments would be treated equally with the others.

OK, back to photos.

I posted pictures on Quikr, but that is not very convenient. You cannot slide show through them and I did not edit them down to a more manageable number.
I made a list of technical comments that I heard and shared it earlier, based on my notes and Rachel's. In case someone did not get it, here it is again.

I also was wondering what the plan was for capturing the results from the trip.
is anyone transcribing the recordings and written comments?

BTW Rachel, did you find the missing memory chip?

Hello Tami, Sheila, Glenn, and Phil,

Hi there. I'm going through my (many) photos and putting together a set to share, and I wanted to get in touch to see if any of you had or were thinking of preparing a report out/debrief on the village public meetings to send up your management chain. I would have drafted something last week to share, but I was out with the flu the whole week (caught it on the flight back - hope none of you got it). It probably makes sense for us to all use the same info so our management gets the same messages.

Perhaps we should touch base with the other village team and see if they have prepared anything, and if they have, prepare something parallel in terms of level of detail, topics covered, etc.

Thanks!
Rachel
